

November 16, 2005

As requested, here's another issue of The WineWeb newsletter -- to keep you up-to-date with happenings on the site and to alert you to new wines.

Wine Gift Selector - Make Your Holiday Shopping Easier

The holiday shopping season is upon us, and you know what that means -- stressed-out shoppers scrambling to find gifts for all those on their lists. The WineWeb hopes to make your holiday shopping easier this year. We just released our Wine Gift Selector service to ease the process of purchasing wine gifts. The gift selector was developed to aid people in finding a suitable wine gift, especially when they do not know the specifics of the other person's wine tastes. The wine gift selector recommends wines that fit within your holiday budget and that can be delivered to the gift recipient's location. You can then easily complete your gift purchase online.

With all the wine choices in the market today, our wine gift selector will recommend some wines based on your gift budget and some preferences of the recipient. Also, given the varied direct wine shipping laws, you'll only see wine gifts that can be sent to the recipient's location. The WineWeb's gift selector searches among wines available direct from the winery and from over 50,000 wines available from partner wine merchants.

Go to <http://www.wineweb.com/gift/> to buy your wine gifts.

More Wines in our Wine Search

The WineWeb team has been busy adding wines that are available in our Wine Search pages. We've more than tripled the number of products available from wine merchants -- in the past week. And we're just getting started...

While we may not be as big as that other searcher site, we believe you'll appreciate how cleanly our search results are displayed, with more information only a mouse-over or click away. We know you like that we only show wines that you can actually have delivered to your location and that can be easily ordered online.

Search away! www.wineweb.com/wine-search.cfm

Interesting Tidbits from the Forums @ WineWeb

Our discussion forum is growing more active each month. We pride ourselves in running a forum that is used by wine novices and experts alike. If you haven't visited in a while, check out the growing volume of information.

Here are some interesting topics:

"Serious" Wine Labels - in the Social Corner section

A lively discussion about serving Retsina- in the Serving & Storing Wine section

Be sure to vote in our latest forum poll - "What kind of wine consumer are you?"

View the Forums @ WineWeb at www.wineweb.com/forum

Interesting Wines

The following are some wineries that have updated their information on The WineWeb recently or been discussed in our forum. Give them a look and you might discover a new favorite.

Check out the Genesis brand from The Hogue Cellars in Washington state--

www.wineweb.com/scripts/wineryframe.cfm/2413

The dry style of fruit wines produced by Anasazi Fields Winery are definitely not the sweet dessert wines you may have imagined. Produced close by us in New Mexico --

www.wineweb.com/scripts/wineryframe.cfm/3216

Slaley makes a South African Shiraz--

www.wineweb.com/scripts/wineryframe.cfm/5063

Abacela Vineyards & Winery in Oregon produces wine from the Tempranillo grape (a grape common in Spain)--

www.wineweb.com/scripts/wineryframe.cfm/6510

Ron Kreutzer, President
WineWeb Enterprises, Inc.